Other Testimony Shows Pro posed Embargo Aimed to Aid Germany.

The weary spectators who have been listening in the Federal District Court to the laborious putting together of the Government's case against Franz von Rintelen, agent of the Kaiser in an attempt to stop the shipment of munitions of war to the Alles, and his codefendants, sat up with a start yesterday when evidence was introduced to indicate that the threatened long-shoremen's strikes of a year age were remen's strikes of a year ago were country's shippers frightened for a time

The subject came up in a conversation between Fowler, Frank S. Monett of S. A. M. 43 1 P. M. 46 6 P. M. Ohio and Henry B. Martin, all of whom are on trial with Rintelen, and was related by James J. MacCracken, president of the pres etween Fowler, Frank S. Monett of dent of the Detroit local of the International Steam Engineers Union, who was int at the conference. MacCracken had tried for some time after he reached Washington to learn the purposes of abor's National Peace Council, but had died. In the course of his inquiries he died at Fowler's room.

Powler Asked Strike Prospect.

"Mr. Fowler was at the window talk-g with Mr. Monett and Mr. Martin," Md MacCracken. "Fowler asked if it ing with Mr. Monett and Mr. Martin, said MacCracken. "Fowler asked if it was possible to bring about a strike among the longshoremen of New York. I said to him that nothing was impossible at this stage of the game. Then he asked me if the captains and engineers of ships were organized. I told him they that MacCracken might have something to reavel regarding the origin of the atempts to bring about a strike among the longshoremen, attempts which did not succeed, Judge Cushman ordered a sur rises... 4 46 A M Sun sets... 6 59 A M Moon rises 9 69 A M High WATER THIS DAY.

Martin Handles the Money.

The way in which Martin handled the strings of the council's money bag was told by Isaae J. Cundiff, secretary and treasurer of the International Iron Shipbuilders' Union, who was hired by Martin to conduct a speaking trip around the country in favor of the embargo propaganda. Cundiff apparently worked hard, having Martin's word that he would be paid $50 a week and expenses, and got many labor organizations to adopt resolutions favoring the embargo by the country in the embargo and the country in favoring the embargo propaganda. At the end of his work Rintelen had fed the country and the source of the money supply had gone with him, leaving Cundiff shy of three weeks' pay.

There was a good deal of difficulty put in the way of Charles H. Canode, a printer of Chicago, and connected with the Rintelen organization there, in collecting his bills for printing pamphlets urging an embargo on munitions. Canode printed 125,000 of the pamphlets, 50,000 of which were destroyed, for which he was finally paid $1,000. He also told of meetings with Martin, Schultels, Taylor, Fowler and Monett in Washington, at one of which meetings Martin told him that they "didn't need to worry about money."

WAR ENDS DANCES IN SCHOOL.

Long Island City Principal's Order Indorsed by Students.

Dr. Peter E. Demarest, principal of Bryant High School at Long Island City. has issued an order that the pupils refrain from all dancing in the school building during the war.

"Dancing by the students would be unseemly at a time when Americans might be shedding their blood in battle for the nation's honor and safety," he said.

The students readily consented and decided to eliminate the junior prom. The money that would be spent for this affair will go to the military battalion in the school for equipment.
